RE: Aiden Nickel, Letter of Reference

Aiden is an exceptionally humble, kind, and servant hearted young man who consistently demonstrates a deep love for others and for the Lord. I had the privilege of serving alongside him on the P2C fellowship team, where he took on the role of men's rep. In this position, Aiden truly thrived and made a meaningful impact on our community.

He played a key role in planning and leading several important events throughout the year, including Men's Feast, Identity Night, and many other gatherings aimed at fostering connection and spiritual growth. Aiden approached each of these opportunities with intentionality, care, and strong leadership. His dedication and excellence were especially evident when he was entrusted with leading our Valentine's Day Dinner, an event that brought together well over 100 attendees. Aiden handled every detail with remarkable ease, even when things didn't go as planned, from organizing food and securing the venue to coordinating volunteers and ensuring a welcoming atmosphere.

The events Aiden led were not only well executed but were deeply impactful. They created spaces where people felt seen, welcomed, and connected to a Christ-centered community. In the context of university life, where it can be easy to feel lost or isolated, Aiden's leadership helped draw many closer to the Lord.

Beyond his abilities, what stands out most about Aiden is his character. It is clear in the way he serves, leads, and loves others that he genuinely loves the Lord. His humility, reliability, and heart for people make him a natural leader and a trusted member of P2C.

Because of these qualities, Aiden has been selected by the servant team to step into the role of FNF Coordinator for the upcoming year and serve on the next year's servant team. In this position, he will oversee P2C's primary weekly gathering, coordinating teams such as welcoming, worship, and partnerships with local pastors. I am confident that Aiden will carry out this responsibility with excellence and continue to positively impact the lives of many. I strongly recommend Aiden for this scholarship. He is a dedicated leader, a faithful servant, and someone who is truly committed to making a difference in his community.
